ABOUT US

CKUT is a non-profit campus community radio station.

CKUT is based at McGill University. CKUT provides alternative music, news and spoken word programming to the city of Montreal and surrounding areas. Our programming is LIVE and LOCAL. Hear us at 90.3FM or listen online at www.ckut.ca. Our programming has a long life through streaming and archives on our website. Listeners also subscribe to our programs through iTunes and RSS feeds. We are also followed heavily on the TuneIn mobile app by those who choose to listen via cell phone.

CKUT's programming is produced by over 200 volunteers made up of students and community members. Our programming is "freeform" (no playlists) and includes most musical genres as well as a variety of grassroots cultural, community and news programs. Some listeners tune in for the variety of programming presented by CKUT, others are devoted to particular shows that provide content not heard anywhere else on the FM dial. We have jazz, bluegrass, hip hop, metal, Filipino, Arabic, environmental, Caribbean, and experimental shows just to name a few. Whichever community or demographic you are trying to reach, we have programming that reaches them.

Since our FM debut in 1987, we have regularly been voted #1 in the Best of Montreal Reader's Poll and are supported by 35,000 McGill students.
