November 1st, 2011

We, the Inter-Tribal Youth Centre, a part of the Native Friendship Centre of Montreal, would like to express our support to CKUT. Together, with the valuable help of their committed volunteers and staffs, we aim to encourage the urban Aboriginal youth who attend ITYC to participate in the Native Solidarity News program, every last Tuesday of the month. Our relationship is meaningful because CKUT provides native youth at the ITYC/NFCM with the necessary skills and techniques for radio broadcasting which has shown to be a great way for the youth to build self-confidence and develop their creativity. It is important for the youth to have a voice in the news and the music played that is not covered in mainstream media while creating a positive exposure of the native culture and traditions.

We believe that by continuing our partnership and providing a variety of activities, we will improve the youths' livelihood.

Sincerely,

Inter-Tribal Youth Centre
